ANNUAL PUBLICATION OF THE
STUDENT BODY OF STONEWALL
JACKSON HIGH SCHOOL IN CHARLESTON, WEST VIRGINIA.

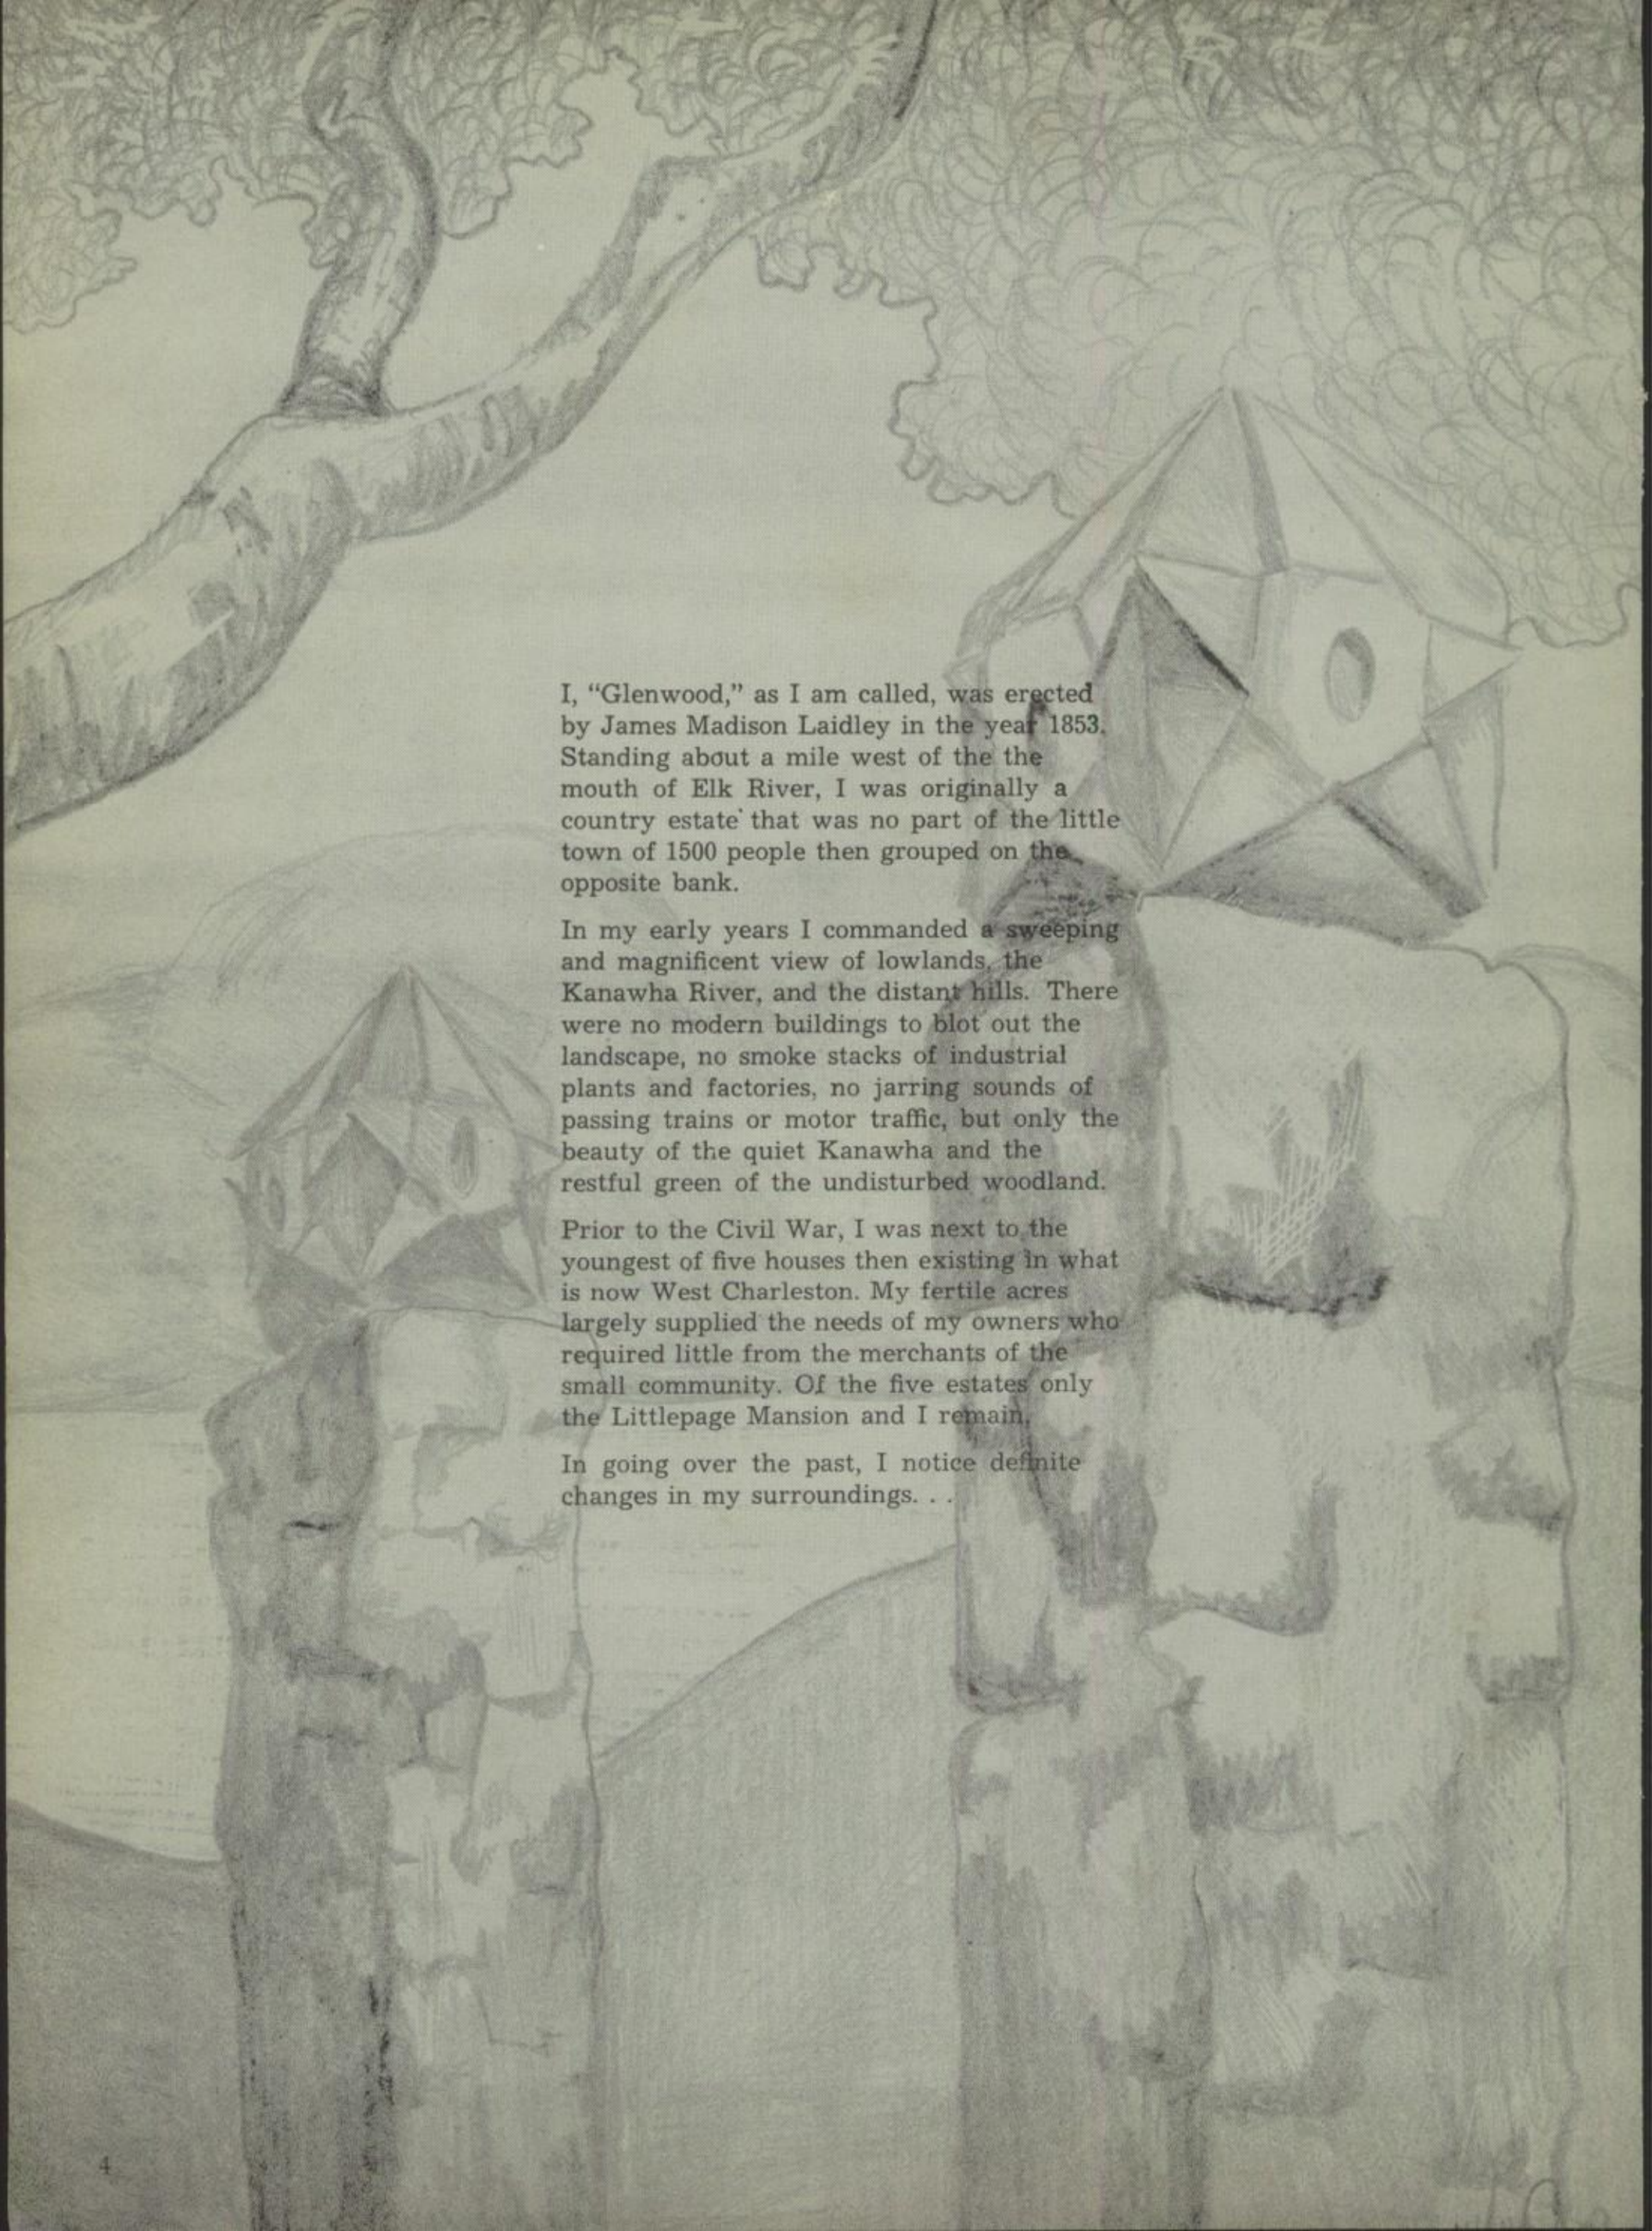
1953



I, "Glenwood," as I am called, was erected by James Madison Laidley in the year 1853. Standing about a mile west of the the mouth of Elk River, I was originally a country estate that was no part of the little town of 1500 people then grouped on the opposite bank.

In my early years I commanded a sweeping and magnificent view of lowlands, the Kanawha River, and the distant hills. There were no modern buildings to blot out the landscape, no smoke stacks of industrial plants and factories, no jarring sounds of passing trains or motor traffic, but only the beauty of the quiet Kanawha and the restful green of the undisturbed woodland.

Prior to the Civil War, I was next to the youngest of five houses then existing in what is now West Charleston. My fertile acres largely supplied the needs of my owners who required little from the merchants of the small community. Of the five estates only the Littlepage Mansion and I remain.

In going over the past, I notice definite changes in my surroundings. . .

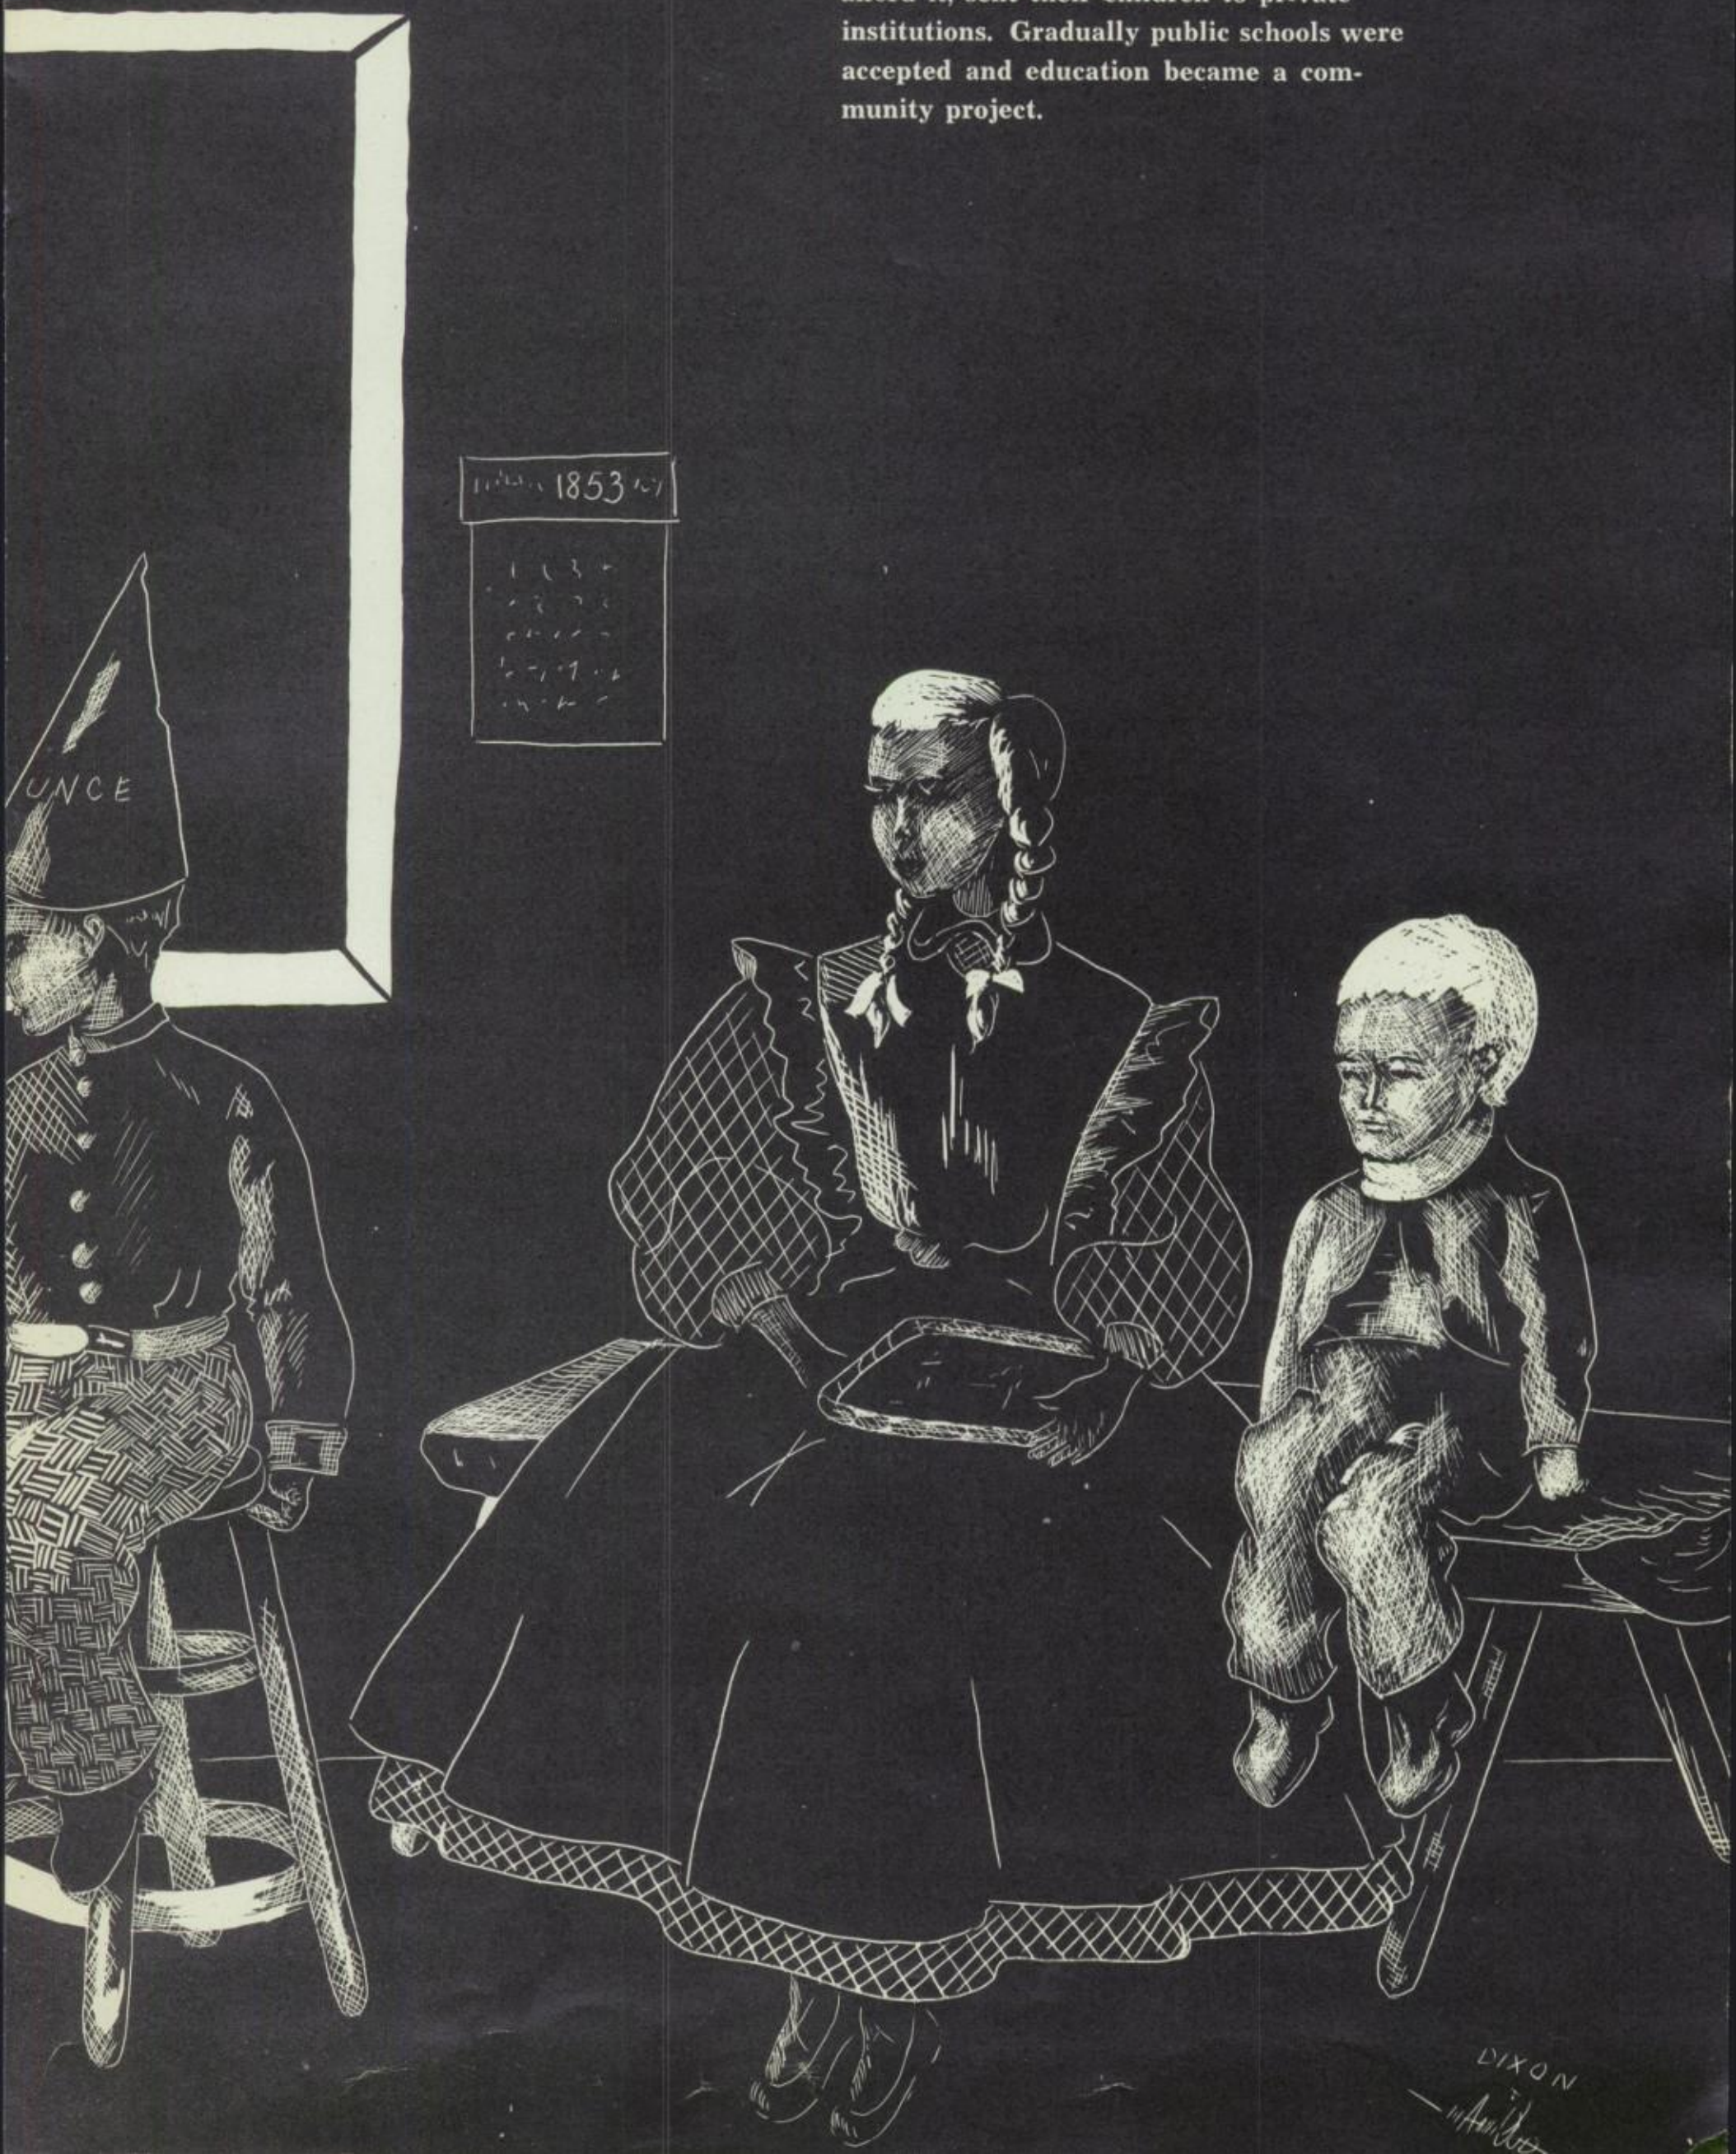
Administration

School, in my early days, was an individual family concern. Parents, if they could afford it, sent their children to private institutions. Gradually public schools were accepted and education became a community project.



Dear Stonewall Students:

Before you leave for your vacations I should like to have a word with each of you. I should like to thank each of you for your contributions in making Stonewall the outstanding school it is. After all it is really you, the boys and girls, not the building, that makes the school. Since your abilities and talents differ, naturally your contributions to your school have not been the same. Some of you have excelled in major subjects; some in cultural subjects such as art, drama, or music; and some have been outstanding in interscholastic athletics. We do not wish that our school be a melting pot where standardized students are produced, but rather that it be like a symphony where there is harmony, as each plays his own individual part.

You can indeed be proud of the fine record that most of your predecessors have made. Many of our Stonewall graduates have earned scholarships to some of our institutions of higher learning. Some have made enviable records in colleges and universities. Most of our graduates have become desirable, upstanding citizens; and that, after all, is the primary aim of education—to teach one to adjust himself to life, to his job and his neighbors.

Before you leave, I wish that you know how much genuine pleasure the faculty and I have derived from our relationships with you. We place a very high value on your friendships. You may not realize it, but your welfare is our chief concern. One of the greatest compensations for our type of work is the feeling that perhaps we have helped our students over some rough spots—that we perhaps dropped a word of encouragement when you needed it—that we have steered you forward when you faltered.

I wish to congratulate those of you who are graduating—those who will not return next year .We wish you much success in your future endeavors. We hope that you will think with pleasure on the years you spent at Alma Mater—Stonewall Jackson High School. We hope that your school can be proud of the record you make in life.

In closing, may I wish all of you a happy vacation and may I say, "Thank you for some wonderful memories of the happy times we have had together in Stonewall Jackson High School".

B. F. Hill

Administration Proves Most Helpful

Truly a friend of the students at Stonewall is Mr. Fred B. Hill, our principal. He is concerned with maintaining the high scholastic standard of the school and helping the students become adjusted to the problems of high school life. He works for complete understanding between the teachers and the students, approving of all student activities is another of his jobs. Mr. Hill also encourages guidance in extra-curricular activities to help the student better prepare himself for later life.

MISS VIRGINIA ATKINSON

MR. GEORGE STEADMAN

MRS. JUANITA AUER

Assisting Mr. Hill in the office are Miss Atkinson, Mr. Steadman, and Mrs. Auer. Miss Atkinson can often be found giving words of sound advice to those who seek it. Mr. Steadman receives letters every day from business concerns inquiring about students' high school records. "Can I help you?" are often the first words you hear when you enter the office at Stonewall Jackson. This is the friendly inquiry of Mrs. Auer, the secretary, who answers the phone and takes care of the mail and record-keeping at Stonewall.

English Develops Good Personality

It is required that all students who are graduated have four units in English, with the exception of the stenographic students in business education and vocational school enrollees. All professions and careers recognize the importance of English in developing the ability to mix with people and make a good impression on them. Effective speaking is taught as an elective, while journalism is open to juniors as a substitute for the regular junior English.

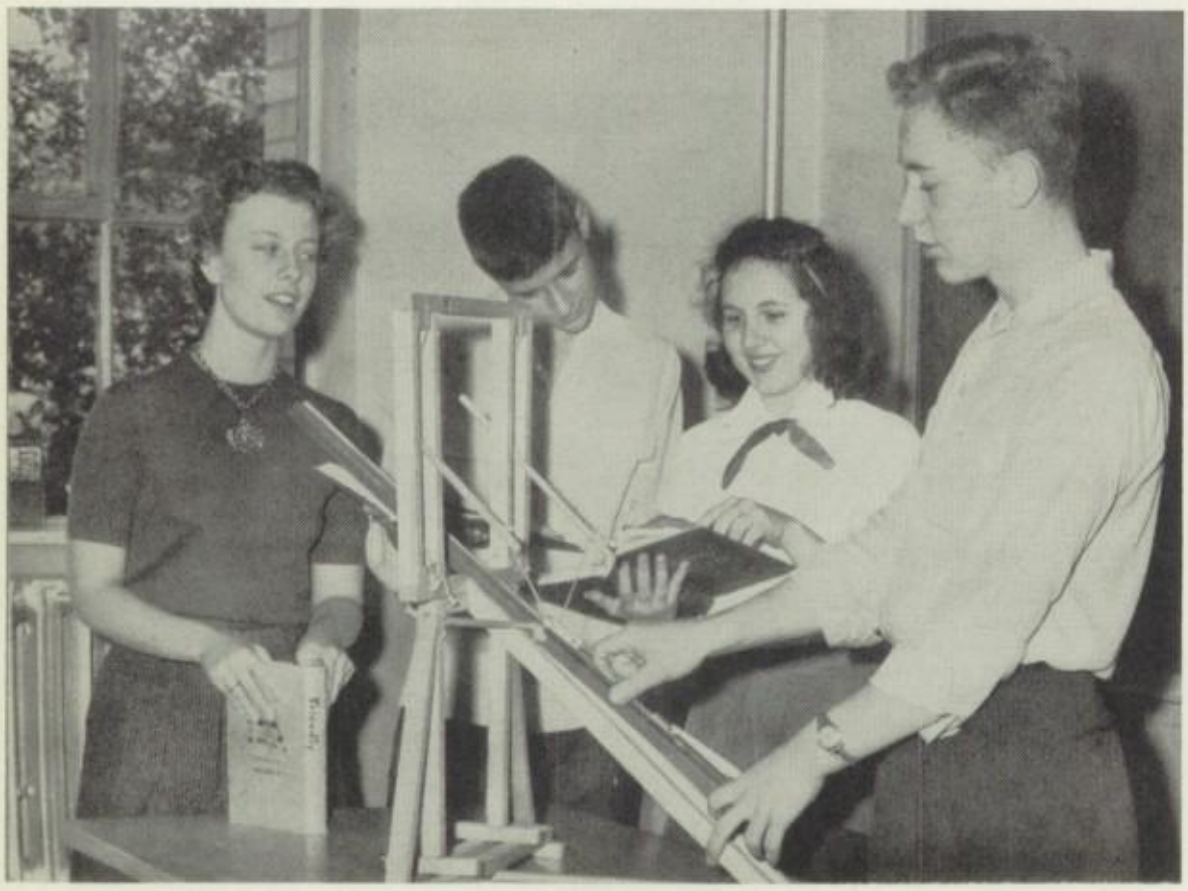
Languages Create Universal Unity



NANCY, RALPH, SUSAN, AND FRANK EXAMINE A BALLISTA IN LATIN CLASS.

Of the languages offered at Stonewall, Latin is an important part of the college preparatory curriculum. Not only does it give students a picture of Roman life, but it is a foundation for other languages.

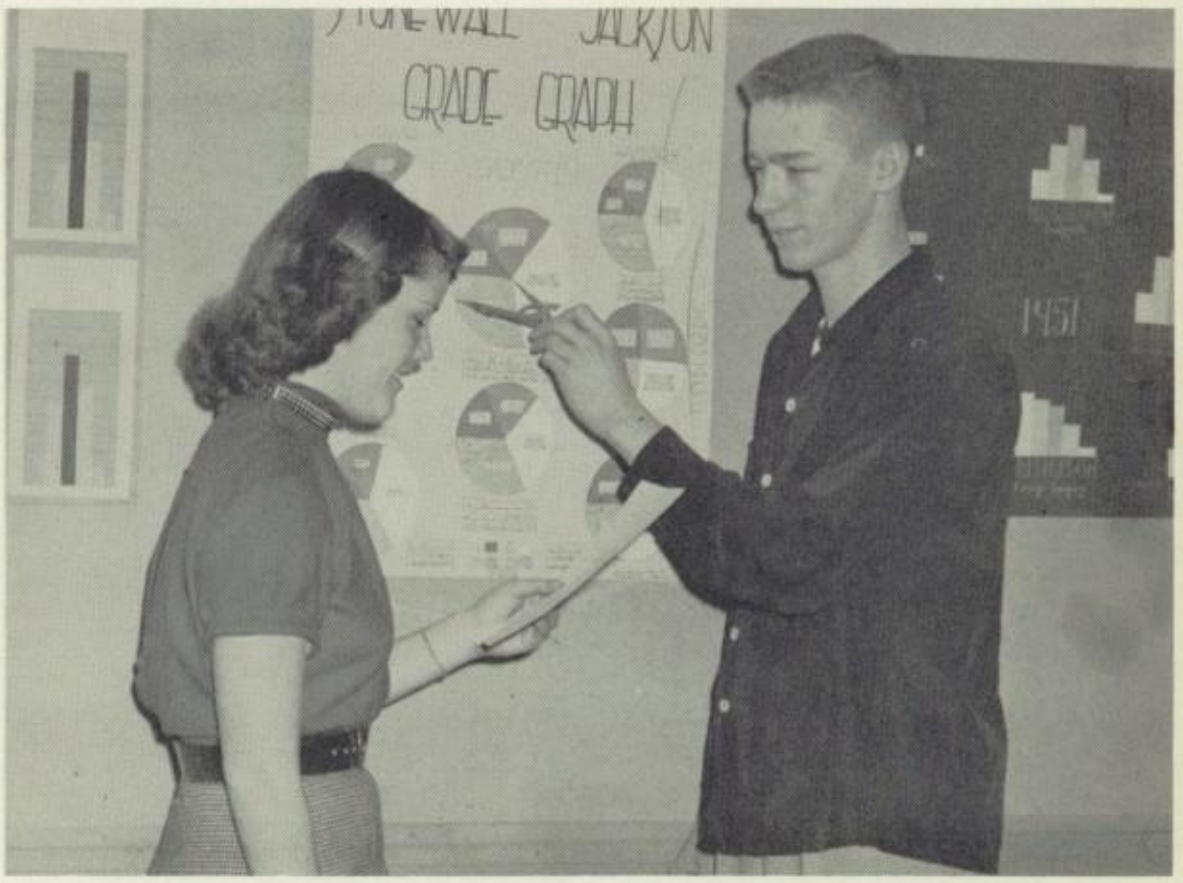
The study of Spanish is very desirable in its broadening and cultural influence, enabling us to break down barriers to mutual understanding.

French is a great literary and cultural language, widely spoken and understood. Scientists all over the world use French as a standard language.

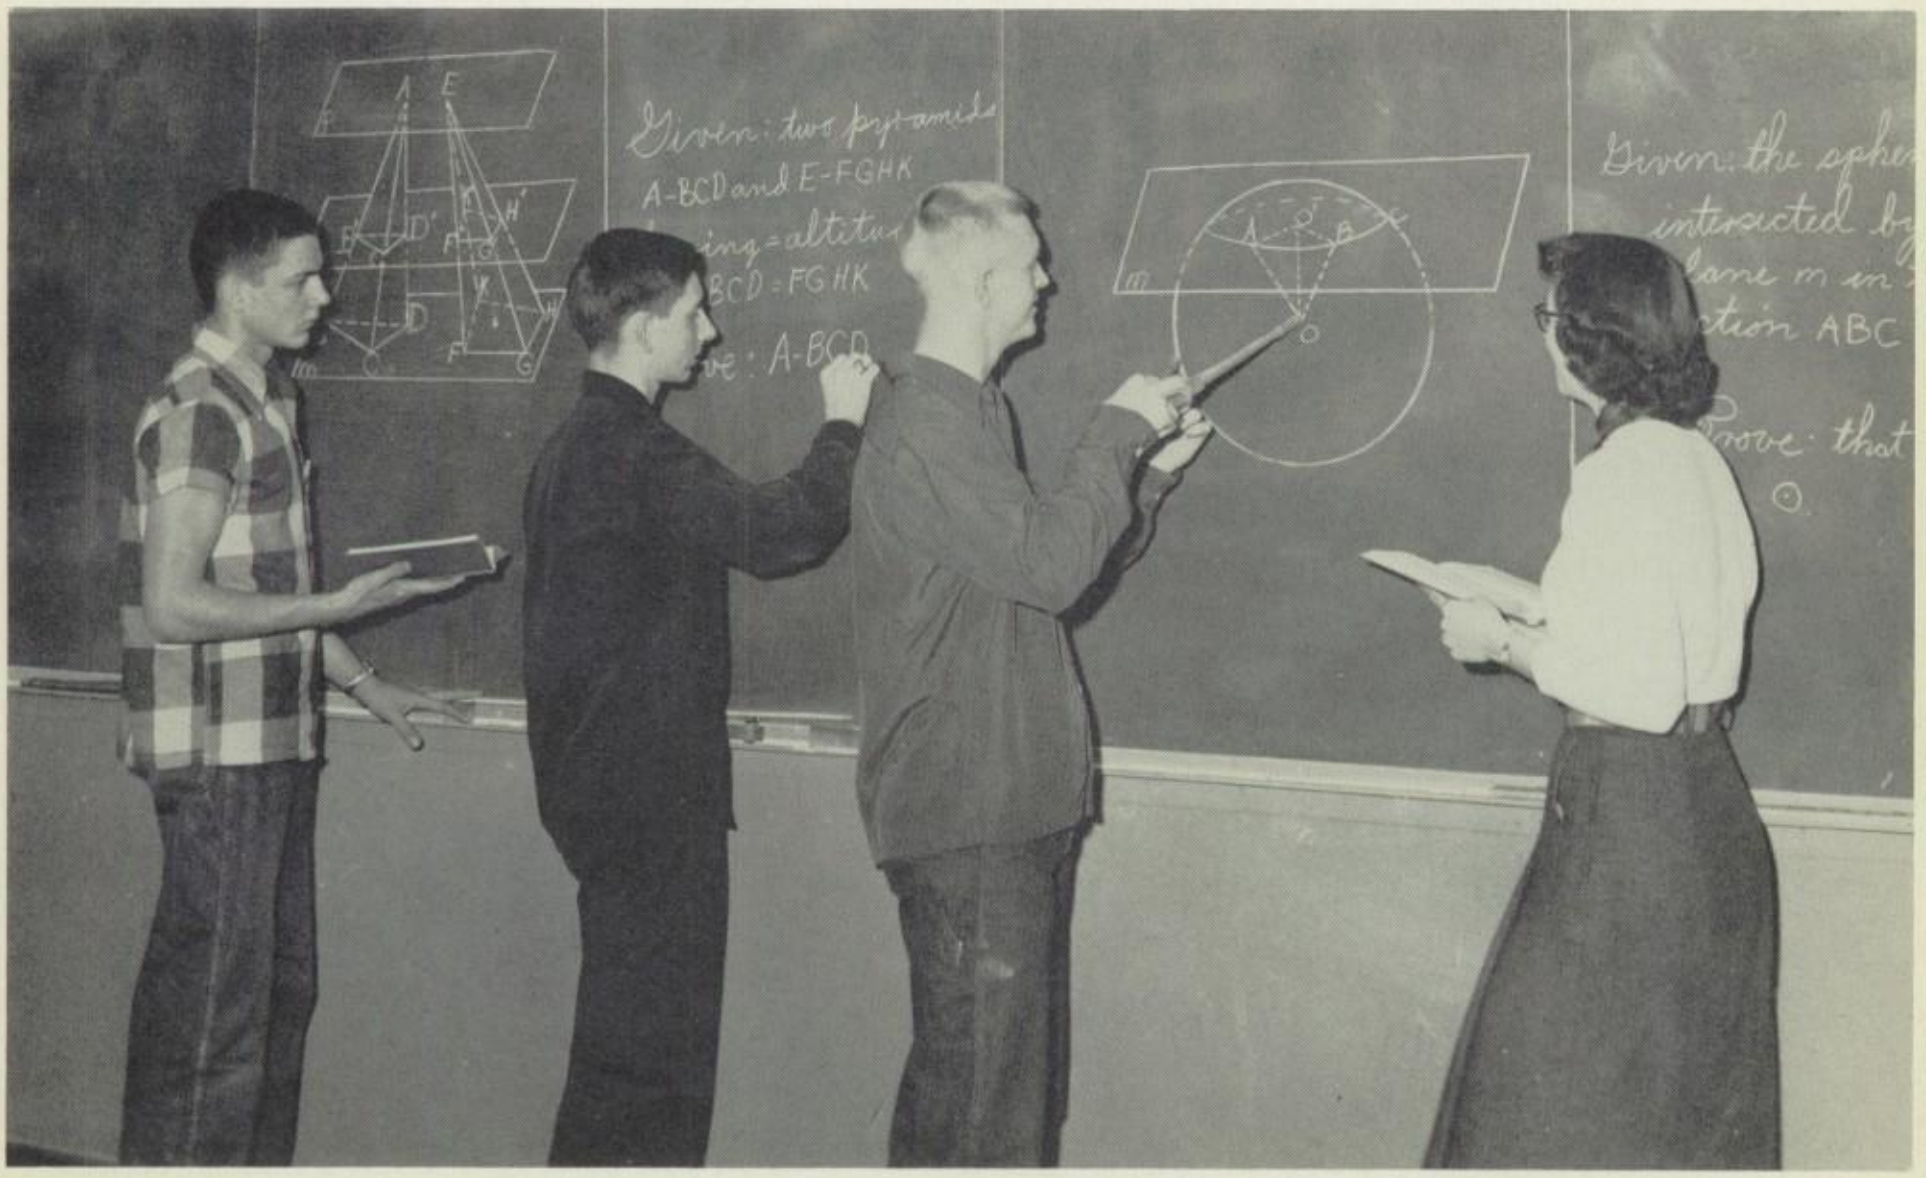
BING POINTS SOMETHING TO POLLY, ANN, ELAINE, AND DICK IN THE FIRST ISSUE OF LIFE WRTTEN ENTIRELY IN SPANISH.

Math Provides Basis for Future Vocation

Mathematics is a basic subject for many vocations. Most schools r e q u i r e two years of mathematics. Engineering schools require two years of algebra, plane geometry, and solid geometry. Stonewall offers all of these courses, plus thorough math training for those interested in aviation, statistics, and physical science. The capable math teachers are ready and willing to help the students with any difficulties which may arise.



DORIS WARNER AND LARRY HEMMINGS WORK TOGETHER ON A GRAPH IN ALGEBRA.



JERRY, VERNON, MITCHELL, AND MARY WORK ON PROBLEMS AND DRAWINGS AT THE BOARD IN SOLID GEOMETRY AND TRIGONOMETRY.

Fine Arts Teach Cultural Appreciation

EXAMINING PRACTICE DESIGNS OF THIS TALENTED ART CLASS IS NANCY NAYLOR.

Stonewall Jackson's Music Department includes the band, orchestra, and glee club. Each division has earned various honors in many fields through continuous practice, drill, and in many excellent programs directed by Mr. Edgar Loar and Miss Eleanore Thomasson.

Art students acquire creativeness, skill, and facts in the art world from Mr. Byron Meyer. Work in perspective, design, and lettering gives an opportunity to the students to practice g o o d construction. Participation in exhibits gives each young artist practical experience and a chance at valuable scholarships.

Domestic Arts Prepare Young Homemakers

Stonewall offers the girls as well as the boys four semesters of foods under the supervision of Miss Rose. The girls are taught to plan a good meal with a well balanced diet. In the classes, they have demonstrations and learn to follow and cook by recipes.

For the girls' future needs in sewing, Miss Munsey teaches a course in clothing. Girls learn to cut and sew their own dresses. They also learn to evaluate and know good material. The girls present a style show semi-annually.

Cafeteria, Library Furnish Relaxation

OUR SCHOOL LIBRARY IS UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MISS ROSE AN HER ASSISTANTS.

Stonewall Jackson's cafeteria and library measure up to the high standards maintained in other departments. Under the efficient management of Mrs. McIllhattan, head dietician, the cafeteria serves good, wholesome food at a low cost. Miss Susanna Rose is in charge of the library, which amply provides reference material and books for the wise use of leisure hours. Magazines are subscribed for and kept on file. The bulletin board changes frequently to correspond with class work.

MRS. McILLAHATAN AND MRS. RAMSEY PREPARE DAILY DELICIOUS AND NUTRITIOUS LUNCHEONS FOR HUNGRY STUDENTS & TEACHERS.

Physical Education Enhances Good Health

"Up 2-3-4, down 2-3-4", calls the instructor as the classes do their daily exercises. Included in each class is the roll call, exercises, and games. Girls participate in such sports as basketball, volleyball, softball, badminton. The boys have basketball, football, track, and baseball as major activities. We compete with other schools in many activities and in doing so receive many awards and honors. Miss Drasnin and Mr. Parsons are the physical education directors.

WARMING UP EXERCISES ARE BEING PRACTICED BY THIS GYM CLASS OF BOYS.

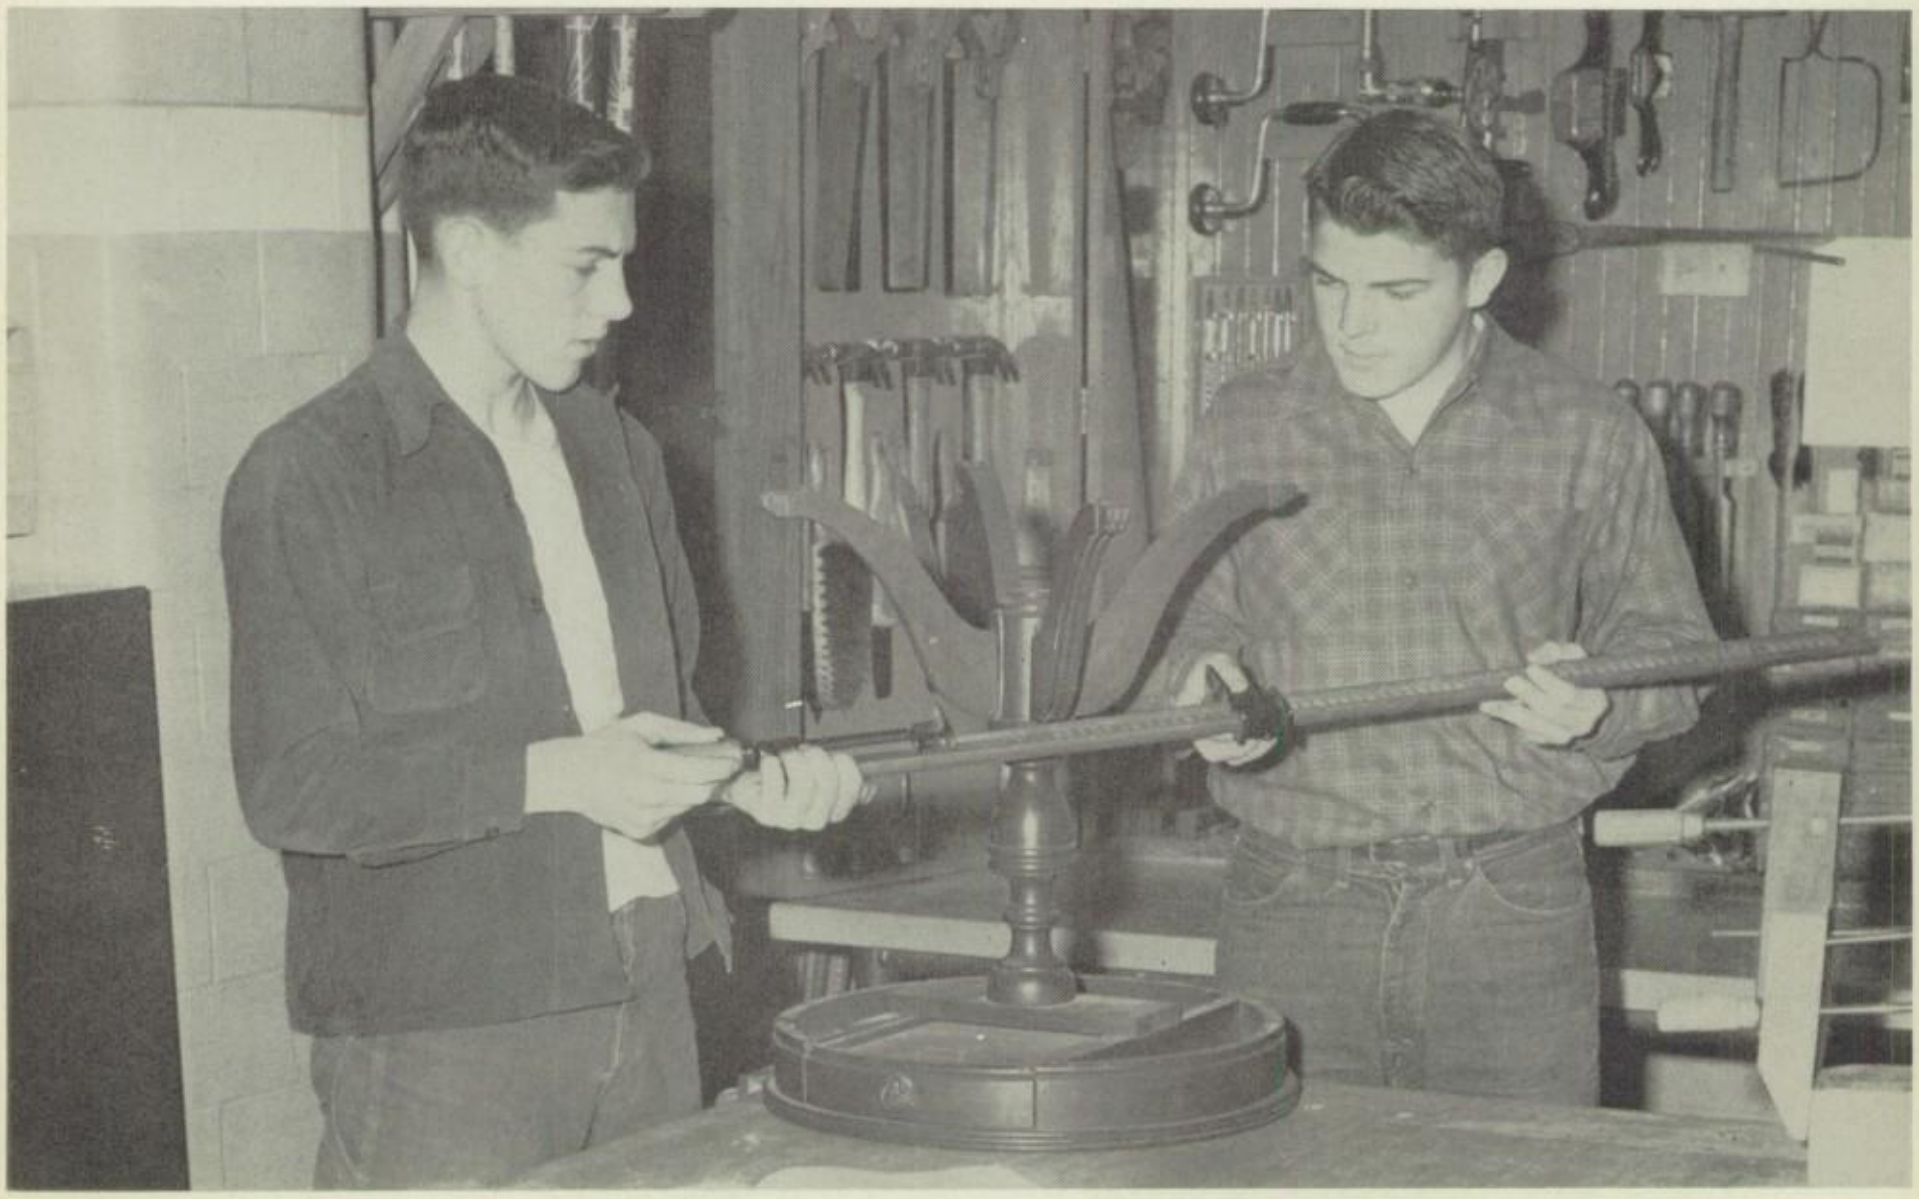
Skill . . . Vocational and Industrial Arts

STUDYING MECHANICAL DRAWING ARE BILL, ALFRED, GLENN AND BUDDY.

The Vocational Shop Department includes three shops, each offering the opportunity of important training in skilled trade for boys whose future work is to be technical, with tools and machines. The three shops are Electric, Machine shop and Sheet Metal.

Industrial Art may be prevocational or avocational for the student's appreciation and cultural artistic development. There are two separate courses, General Shop I and General Shop II. Aviation Engines and Structures course is sometimes referred to as Industrial Laboratories.



THIS LOVELY TABLE FOR SOME LUCKY HOME IS THE PROJECT IN WOODWORKING CLASS OF CLYDE SURFACE AND BENNY ROSS.

Science Acquaints People with Nature

Stonewall's Science Department is one of the most modern in the state. Over half of the students are enrolled in one of the courses of this department. Biology, a general study of living things, is required of all tenth-grade students. General chemistry, especially as it applies to the Kanawha Valley, is furnished as an elective for those who plan to go into industry or go to college in the near future. Physics is available for those who plan to specialize in mathematics and science at college.

FRANK, BETTY, POLLY, AND BOB MIX A SOLUTION TO BLOW UP THE CHEMISTRY ROOM.

Business Education Produces Leaders

CLERICAL PROCEDURE CLASS IS USEFUL AND INTERESTS BOTH BOYS AND GIRLS.

The Business-Education Department has a four-way program—g u i d a n c e, training, placement, and follow up. Guidance, given in the sophomore year, helps students decide on the proper sequence —stenographic, clerical, bookkeeping, or distributive education—for further training. An effort is made to place students in their initial jobs after graduation. Every five years a follow up of graduates is made to evaluate the curriculum, teaching methods, and working conditions.

FLYING FINGERS AND CLEAR MINDS ARE AT THE TOP OF THE "MUST HAVE" LIST FOR THIS LARGE TYPING CLASS OF BOYS AND GIRLS.

Social Studies Bridges Past and Present

The Stonewall Jackson Social Studies Department offers a variety of courses. World history gives students a connected story of civilization and develops an appreciation of nations. American history is the story of the building of our United States, socially, politically, c u l t u r a l l y, and spiritually. Problems of democracy prepares students for a satisfying life with participation in public affairs. With the help of modern records and movies the past and present become a living reality.

CURRENT EVENTS PANEL DISCUSSION IS UNDER WAY IN HISTORY CLASS BY FRANK MARTIN, SUE KISH, PEGGY TONEY, AND BILL FAST.

Organizations

Organizations have gradually come to supplement family activities. Modern conveniences have created more free time, and various extra-curricular activities have arisen. Organizations are truly an important part of modern school life.

S. J. Band Renowned throughout State

"East Side, West Side, All Around The Town". That's where the melodious, and rhythmic music of the Scarlet and Grey Band may be heard at major functions within the city.

Win or lose—no football game is complete without the half-time ceremonies created by this dazzling musical and yet military-like group. In addition, the band performs at parades and community events. The spring season is officially opened only when the Stonewall General's band have entertained at their annual Spring concert.

The flash of twirling batons, the waving plumes, and the wonderful array of flashy uniforms always precede the band in all parades and community affairs. This lovely group of talented toe-tossers is a major part of the big band events. Carrying off five trophies in the annual Majorette Festival, they are the talk of the town.

"Cuando tendremos la proxima reunion?' is a question always being asked by members of the Spanish Club. A visit to St. Albans' Spanish meeting, a picnic, "Learn-a-lingo" games, Spanish visitors and movies were some of the activities which added up to keep the 120 members more than entertained. Officers were Dick Beck, president; Sally Leonard, vice-president; Bev Johnson, secretary; and Pat Walters, treasurer.

Talks by people of French descent proved interesting and educational to members of the French Club. Slides, games, and songs were among the program activities with such events as a Christmas Party helping to stimulate an active interest in the club.

Consisting of a representative from each home-room, the Junior Red Cross is active in the Red Cross Drive and sends boxes to needy families. Sponsoring the group is Mr. Oral Burdette.

To assist Mrs. Auer, Miss Atkinson, and Mr. Steadman with their many duties, girls who do their school work accurately and honestly are chosen to work in the office during their study hall periods. They do odd jobs such as taking up attendance reports, answering the telephone, running office errands, helping with scheduling in the spring, and watching the office in the absence of the Deans.

Under the patient direction and supervision of Mr. C. H. Martin, the 17 movie projector operators render a valuable service each year to the school. They run movies during their study hall periods and spare time for various classes. These boys perform their tasks not for special recognition, but for the purpose of aiding the school.

Have you noticed the busy girls in the library? They belong to one of the most helpful organizations in Stonewall. They are the library assistants, who help Miss Rose, the librarian. They check in books, arrange them on the shelves, and help students find books. During the club meetings, instead of looking for recognition, these industrious girls write overdue book slips and make themselves useful.

"To further interest in dramatics by reading, discussing, evaluating, and presenting plays"—this is the purpose of the Troupers. A very popular club at Stonewall, they meet once a month and study make-up, costuming, and diction. The main project each year is a three-act play, which is presented under the direction of Mrs. Bourne and Mr. Curry. Each member is expected to serve on one committee for a major production and to work toward credit for the National Thespian Society.

To become a Thespian is the ambition of all students interested in dramatics. The National Thespian Society is an honorary organization, but only in the sense that students are given recognition for having met certain requirements. Membership in the Thespians is not only a reward for meritorious participation in dramatic arts, but is also evidence of the student's desire to be associated with other high school boys and girls throughout the country who are performing superior work in this field. Membership places upon students the solemn obligation of performing even greater work after they have taken the Thespian pledge.

The duty of the Thespians is to promote interest in dramatics. They help in all dramatic productions not only by acting but by assisting with make-up, staging, lighting and directing. The Thespians' organization in Stonewall is under the capable direction of Mr. Ralph Curry.

Membership in the National Honor Society is the greatest award a high school student can hope to attain. Character, scholarship, leadership, and service are considered in choosing members. Impressive campus ceremonies are held each semester to initiate new members.

Composed of the school officers and representatives of all the various organizations, the Executive Council works together to serve Stonewall and to guide all its activities.

"All those in favor say aye; opposed likewise." These words ring out through the halls of Stonewall as the Student Council, consisting of school and class officers and headed by the president, Frank Taylor, vote on another issue. This group renders many valuable services to the student body including publishing the school directory, sponsoring the paper store, being in charge of assemblies and finding lost things and losing found things. Many social events are planned by this important organization which is sponsored by Miss Cheesman.

Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists, inducts new members annually. Here at Stonewall, Quill and Scroll is under the capable leadership of Miss Mary Kennedy and Mr. Stuart Armstrong.

Music of Orchestra, A Capella Choir,

I hear music! It's fifth period, and from room 317 come the harmonizing voices of the ACappella Choir. Songs which have echoed through the old house many times, echo through the halls of Stonewall for the first time. ACappella Choir includes about twenty boys and girls, picked from the boy's and girls' chorus, who participate in special engagements and All-State and All-County Chorus. It is directed by Miss Thomasson.

Mr. Loar, the able director of the band and majorettes, also supervises the tuneful activities of the school orchestra. Many noteworthy school affairs are keynoted by the earful strains coming from this musical group.

As the curtain goes down and the lights go on, a burst of applause greets the members of the Boys' and Girls' Chorus who have just presented the Operetta, "A Waltz Dream".

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Faircloth, the Y-Teens devote themselves to the task of creating, maintaining, and extending high standards of Christian character. Among their projects were sending chocolate bars overseas and badly needed clothing to Japan, participating in the hanging of the greens, and presenting World Day of Prayer program.

Future Homemakers have contributed much to Stonewall's success in the past years. Under the sponsorship of Miss Rose, the club has engaged in various activities, among which were decorating a Christmas Tree in the front hall, sending cookies in gaily decorated coffee cans to Marmet Crippled Children's Hospital, and promoting ticket sales for the Minstrel.

Gym leaders conduct physical education classes under the supervision of Miss Drasnin. A few of their duties include attending to equipment and keeping the gymnasium clean. The familiar cry heard echoing through the gymnasium is "fall in". This is the gym leaders signal for class attention and roll call.

Headed by Miss Gertrude Drasnin, the Girls' Athletic Association sponsors unforgettable square dances for the entire school. Playnights, outings, and intramural sports are some of the members' activities. Entertainment is not the only purpose of the G. A. A. Each member strives to attain a better attitude and better ideals of sportsmanship. With Miss Drasnin's aid, they usually reach their goal.

Few people realize that the cheerleaders are the inspiring spirit behind all the intense enthusiasm at Stonewall Jackson. People throughout the Kanawha Valley give recognition to the students for the way they back their school teams. The cheerleaders should be especially commended for their good work.

are Future Leaders

Have you heard the saying "busy as a beaver"? Well, this is typical of the Future Business Leaders of America. The purpose of this organization is the fact that the future of America depends upon mutual understanding and cooperation of business, industry, labor and the church. It teaches the student to take responsibility for carrying out assigned tasks in a manner that will reflect credit to himself. It trains him to work efficiently and to think clearly.

Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Lucille Armstrong, presented to a select group the movie entitled, "What Greater Gift". Other activities of the year included a weekend at a state conference at Jackson's Mill for club representatives. Organized to further interest in teaching as a career, F. T. A. provides interesting meetings which the students plan and in which the members take an active part.

Hi-Y, one of Stonewall's most active organizations, is sponsored by Mr. George Steadman, Dean of Boys. We are indebted to this group of active boys for our noted Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies. Their purpose is to create throughout school and community high standards of Christian character.

Participation in sports is the main object of the Varsity Club. Earning a letter in one of the four sports, football, basketball, baseball or track entitles a boy to membership in this organization. Under the capable athletic direction of the coaches, Russ Parsons, Pud Hudson, and Ferg Ginnakis, these athletes bring Stonewall to victory time and time again before the cheering fans in the stands.

Council Highly Rated Activities

The Social Studies Council is composed of two representatives elected each semester from all history classes: world history, American history, and problems of democracy. One of the most useful tasks that this busy club has accomplished has been the registration of voters for school officers. (See right)

The Jackson Journal

"Have you got it yet?" This is a normal question around Stonewall every other Friday morning when the Jackson Journals are distributed. Peggy Lanham edited the paper during the first semester and Jim Meador and Elaine Strock were co-editors for the second semester. Mr. Stuart P. Armstrong is advisor.

Associate editors are Jane Campbell, Nancy White, and Ann Woodrum. Judy Hornor and Shirley Roberts are news editors while Nancy Louft, Margaret Moyer, and Nancy Walker have the editorial page. Sports are handled by David Savage.

Students who work on the Journal comprise a homeroom which devotes the homeroom periods to Journal work. The Jackson Journal has won every possible honor, including Columbia Scholastic Press Association Medalist, Quill and Scroll International Honor, and All Columbia Advertising Honors.

The big edition of the Journal is the one which comes out at Christmas time. It is composed of about two hundred pages and is in magazine form.

Besides the publishing of the school newspaper, the Journal staff also sponsors the semi-annual Jackson Jollities and the two classical piano concerts. All in all, the Journal staff is very busy and enthusiastic group.

Staff Meet Deadline For Glenwood Edition

"I am sorry but you will have to leave; I am closing the building now." "But we have a deadline to meet by tomorrow," is the anguished reply of the staff. Copy and layouts disappear, and what about the ads that were to be in by the first of March? The days seem to pass as the pressing deadline for the publication of the year-book draws near. May comes, and the 1953 JACKSONIAN is handed out to the anxiously waiting students. What was that sound? Only the JACKSONIAN staff exhaling a happy sigh of relief that the job and the fun of publishing "The Glenwood Edition" is finished.

GRIFFITH WINS STATE KENNEDY AWARD GENERALS BRING HOME ELK BUCKET

Don Griffith, ace quarterback and co-captain of the Generals, was named state winner of the Kennedy Award, which is presented to West Virginia's most outstanding high school football player each year. He was named over many other gridiron stars of the state because of his exceptional passing ability and team leadership.

For the first time in three years the Generalites of Stonewall brought home the Elk Bucket. It was a joyous occasion when the bucket was received by Mr. Hill in behalf of the student body. We find that the bucket was worth waiting for and hope to decorate our trophy case with it for many years to come.

Season

GENERALS AND LOGAN BATTLE TO A 6-6 TIE

Opening their grid season at Logan, the Generals found a keyed up Wildcat delegation but managed to gain a 6-6 tie. The Wildcats scored first by downing an S. J. punt and then marching forty-five yards to paydirt. The Generals lone tally came in the second quarter when Griffith scored from the two on a quarterback sneak.

GENERALS DOWN LINSLEY 26-13

Stonewall downed a stubborn Linsley eleven 26-13. The Generals scored in the opening period, but trailed at half-time 13-7. Stonewall came back to tie the score in the third quarter on Jim Smith's seven yard sprint. In the final period Linsley couldn't keep pace with the S. J. machine, and went down to defeat as the Generals scored two more TD's.

S. J. AND ASHLAND DEADLOCK WITH 7-7 TIE

A well balenced Ashland Tom Cat eleven played Stonewall to a 7-7 tie. The Generals scored first on a pass from quarterback Griffith to end Summers, and Hartman added the extra point. Ashland scored later in the same period. In the second half both teams went scoreless. Although the Generals scored, the play was called back.

GENERALS SMOTHER HUNTINGTON 38-7

The Generals, played one of their better games of the season, defeating a strong and well coached Huntington Pony Express eleven by the tune of 38-7. Griffith's sparkling pass completions and Frank Ballard's aggressive line play helped provide the victory and roll up the highest point output of the season for the Scarlet Scourge.

WEIRTON SPANKS S. J. 47-18

After a hectic battle the Generals came out on the short end of a 47-18 score with a rough and powerful Red Rider eleven. Displaying an early scoring punch Weirton rolled up a 20-7 half-time lead, and proceeded to keep up the torrid pace during the second half. Stonewall's Simpson was S. J.'s only bright spot, as the substitute quarterback scored 2 TD's.

Record

GENERALS DOWN EAST 14-12

The Generals had to come from behind to down a determined Huntington aggregation, 14-12. After East had scored twice in the first quarter, the Generals came back strong in the second stanza to score two TD's in five minutes, and this provided the winning margin. The second half was a defensive battle staged in the mud by both teams.

GENERALS BOW TO FAIRMONT 21-20

A strong Polar Bear machine, sparked by their ace quarterback Johnny Bruzzy, defeated the Generals 21-20. All three Fairmont touchdowns resulted from S. J. fumbles and intercepted passes. Stonewall's TD's came on a fifty yard gallop by Bobby Downs, and two pass completions by Griffith to Henry Summers and Dewey Ballengee.

GENERALS UPSET BIG REDS 13-6

Embarrassing a favored Parkersburg eleven, the Generals downed the Big Reds 13-6. Parkersburg scored the initial tally but failed to convert the extra point. A Stonewall drive, climaxed by a pass to Boschian, scored S. J.'s first tally; and Griffith's sensational run completed the scoring for the night, giving the Generals a joyful triumph.

GENERALS SURPRISE MOUNTAIN LIONS 14-7

The Scarlet Scourge surprised a talented and colorful Charleston eleven by the score of 14-7. The Mt. Lions started things off with a touchdown in the first quarter, but the Generals rallied, to tie at half time. A defensive battle took place in the third quarter, but a Charleston fumble set the stage for a Griffith to Ballengee winning pass.

S. J. CLOSES SEASON DEFEATING E. B.

Winding up the '52 season, the Generals walloped the East Bank Pioneers to the tune of 26-7. Although the Generals have had better won and lost records in the past, the team ranked as one of the more powerful squads of the state, defeating such teams as Parkersburg, Charleston, Wheeling Linsley, and Huntington.

JUMP BALL!

GENERALS SHOW ABILITY

Under the coaching of Clyde "Pud" Hutson, the Generals completed a successful season with a record of 18 wins and 5 losses. They ranked third in the K. V. C. with a 13-4 record preceded by Charleston and South Charleston, who handed them three of their four defeats. The fourth loss came at the hands of a determined East Bank quintet. Outside the conference, the Generals had a perfect record, defeating Parkersburg, Huntington East, and Huntington High.

The Generals swept through the sectionals defeating Dunbar 98-64 and Nitro 77-65. In the regionals the Generals, branded as the darkhorse of the tournament, met a well balanced South Charleston quintet and were defeated 66-57.

This year's regular team consisted of Jerry "Ike" Hartman, Bob Tweedy, Jim Laughlin, Larry Hemmings, Frank Martin and Allyn Griffiths.

Under the superb coaching of Ferg Giannakis the Little Generals ended their 1952 and 1953 cage season with a record of 17-3. The Genreals, composed of sophomores and juniors, showed great promise for the future, as they piled up a 71.3 average per game and a total season output of 1425 points. Stalwarts for the Little Generals were Bill McClure, who scored 360 points in 15 games for a 24 point average, and Bob Smith, whose 44 points were the highest ever scored by any B team or varsity player at Stonewall. Smith scored 293 points in 16 games for an 18.3 average. Defeating the Generals were Charleston, East Bank, and Clendenin. The B's under Giannakis have showed fine cooperation and aggresiveness and have the making of a great varsity team in the future.

Sleepy Glenn congratulates Coach Russ Parsons on Stonewall's winning its fifth consecutive State Track Championship.

Winning the state championship for the fifth consecutive year, the Stonewall Jackson thinclads established a new West Virginia record. Under the coaching of Russ Parsons, Ferg Giannakis, and Landon Hamilton, the Generals were unsurpassed throughout the season. This ran their victory string to 19 consecutive track meets in which they competed against schools in Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia. High point man for Stonewall this year in every meet was Bobby Downs; also outstanding was Henry Summers, who broke the Shot Put record in the Gazette Relays. Many other Stonewall track men piled up valuable points by copping second and third places in many of the events, and thus helping to make victory certain.

STATE CHAMPIONS

Henry Summers breaks the shot put record.

Staab and Summers work out with the shot.

Under the superb coaching of Clyde "Pud" Hutson the Stonewall Jackson Generals ended their schedule of 1953, with third place in the Kanawha Valley Conference, only two games off the pace of the leader, East Bank. The Generals started the season in full swing, winning seven straight before being defeated by Charleston, East Bank, and twice by South Charleston. The Scarlet and Gray team entered the sectionals with a bang, beating Poca 2-1 and 8-2 but slumped in the regionals, losing to a strong Pioneer team from East Bank. Composing the General's snappy infield were first baseman, Jack Smithers; spark plug, Rick Farley at second; slugger, Gary Bloss, at short stop; Harold Summers at third, with Dick Wells catching. Outfielders were Jack Lawhorn, Denver Miller, Eugene Klamer, Johnny Hamric, and Hobie Harrison. Making up the pitching staff were Jack Jones, Don Hundley, Jack Doyle, Charlie Donovan, and Bob Price.

All in all the Generals turned in a fine season record of 13-5.

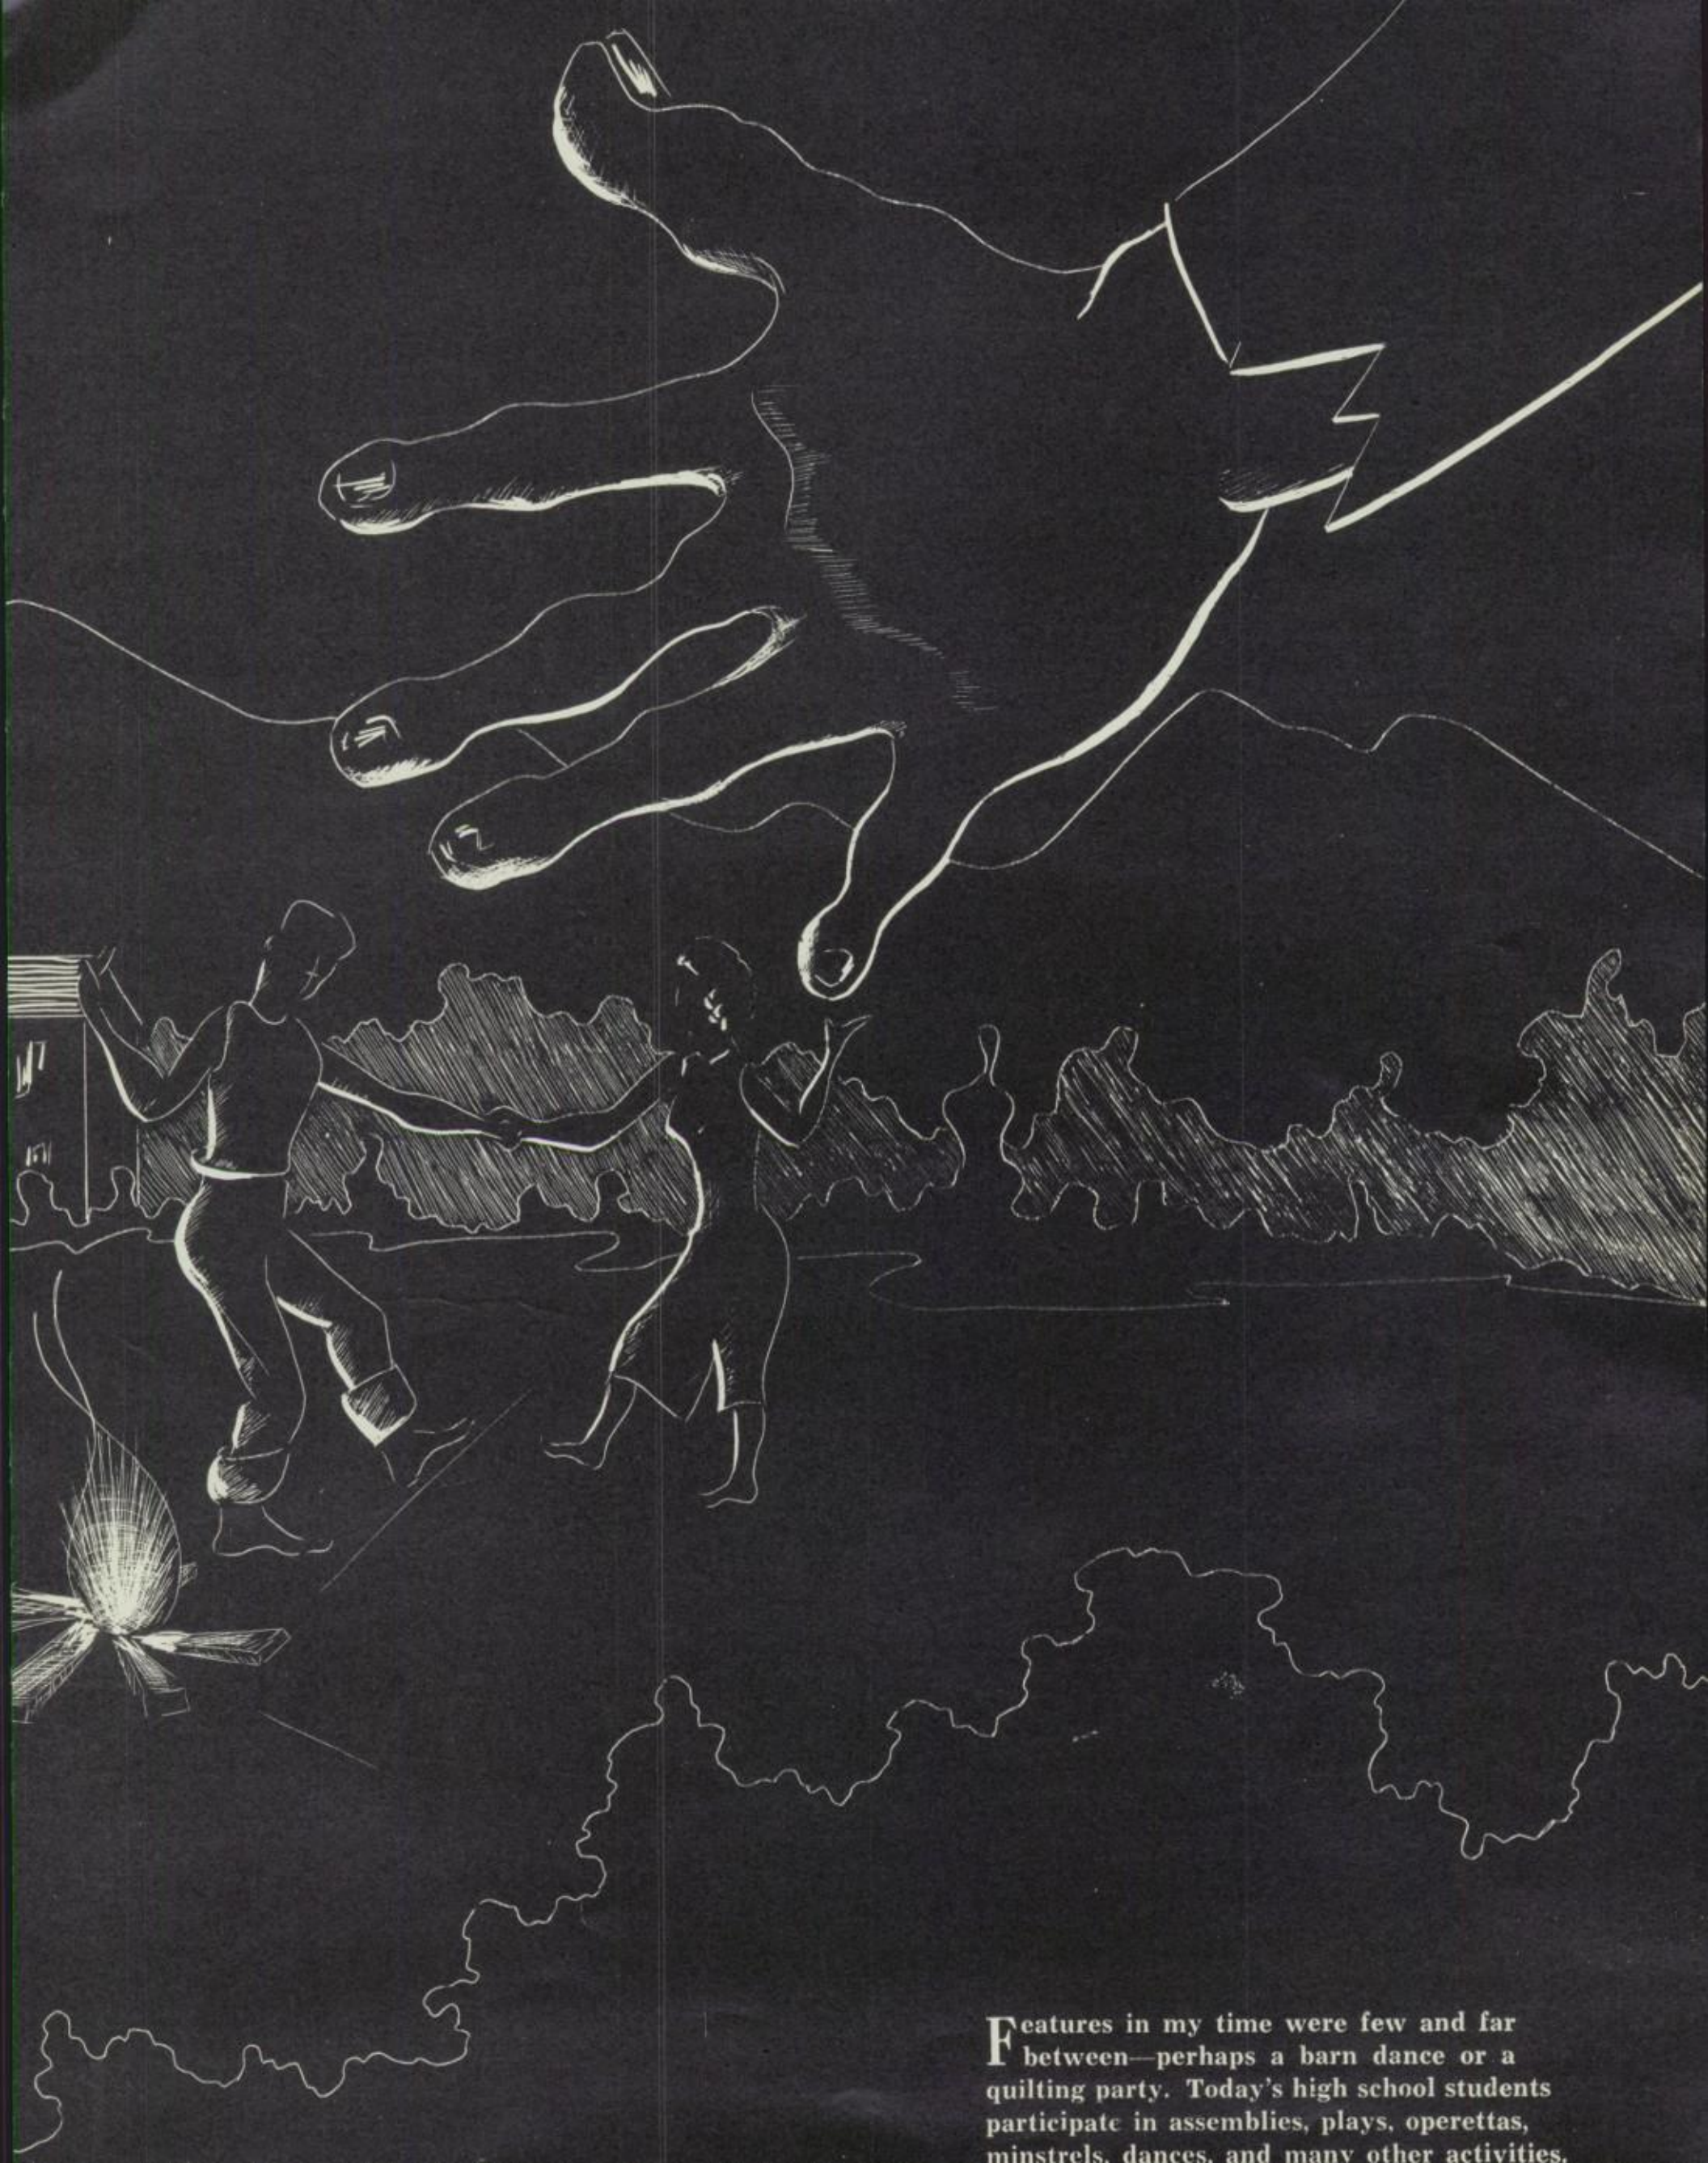
Features



Features in my time were few and far between—perhaps a barn dance or a quilting party. Today's high school students participate in assemblies, plays, operettas, minstrels, dances, and many other activities.

Miss Stonewall Jackson

Sparkling southern belle is Jane Lynn , this year's "Miss Stonewall Jackson". Along with being a member of the Student Council, Jane is a high stepping Scarlet and Gray majorette of this year's championship corps. She has attended every S. J. football game since the sixth grade, thus showing the strong feeling for Stonewall. Jim Cook was the escort for this pretty miss.

Southern Belles

Miss Barbara Wall—Attendant

Miss Judy McCutcheon—Attendant

Barbara, a popular miss at Stonewall, participates in many school activities, but cheerleading seems to top her list. Lovely Judy McCutcheon is assistant head majorette, among her many other activities. She has a winning smile that puts her on top. Petite Joyce Boggs is head cheerleader and an active student with a friendly greeting for everyone. Pat is a most talented belle; she participates in many extra-curricular activities and heads the S. J. Majorette Corps. The belle with a bubbling personality is Peggy Hall, one of S. J.'s attractive cheerleaders. She is active around Stonewall.

Pretty girls! Handsome boys! Fun galore! On May 17th, the spotlight shone on dancing couples at the Junior-Senior Prom, where glittering stars and white picket fence were symbolic of a beautiful May evening at Jackson Heights.

Stonewall Honors

Above: Ben Mahmoud is shown receiving a $10 reward from Miss Hillabold for his prize poster on the United Nations. Peggy Gentry, president of the Social Studies Council, looks on. Below: Frank Taylor wins a third plaque in the American Legion oratorical contest. Frank won his first on the theme "Our Constitution, Worth Having, Worth Keeping" in the ninth grade. His second plaque was received in the tenth grade.

Head majorette Patty Hendrickson is receiving the awards from Mr. Hill for the S. J. part in the majorette festival. The other lovely majorettes share the spotlight.

"Father of the Bride"

"Father of the Bride," a comedy in three acts, was presented by the junior class under the capable direction of Mrs. Jean Bourne on November 21.

Upsetting a peaceful home, Kay Banks brings the news of her engagement to Buckley Dunstan. Kay and Buckley want a small wedding, but the list grows and grows. Mr. Banks becomes more and more distraught. Kay and Buckley argue, but he disappears. He returns, however, and they decide to have any kind of wedding. In the midst of the confusion and uproar, Mr. Banks and Kay leave for the church.

"A Waltz Dream"

"A Waltz Dream," gay, merry, operetta, was presented by the mixed chorus and orchestra, November 14, 1952. It was very capably directed by Miss Eleanore Thomasson.

Homecoming Queen

Lovely Miss Sharon Mallory was chosen sophomore attendant. She is a substitute majorette and will head next year's corps. Her escort was Barry Hines.

Miss Peggy Hall reigns over Stonewall-Eastbank Grad game as Stonewall's first "Homecoming Queen." Her escort is Jack Burford, and her attendants are Margaret Riley and Sharon Mallory. This event leaves an imprint in her life that she will never forget. Peggy is quite popular among her fellow students with her winning personality. She keeps school spirit at its highest as one of the peppy Scarlet and Gray Cheerleaders. She belongs to Future Homemakers and is treasurer of the Girls Athletic Association. Sports seem to be her hobby and she lists swimming as the top sport. To her the most important events around Stonewall are the football games; for, as you can tell, Peggy is always ready for excitement.

The excitement of the moment appears in the expressions of Sharon. Margaret Ann and Peggy; while on the other hand, Barry, Jack, and Kenny show more concern about the situation.

Mr. Dana R. Ervin, principal of East Bank High School, presents the reigning queen and attendants with a large bouquet. Mr. B. A. Hill likewise honors "Miss Pioneer", Donna Lawson, and attendants with chrysanthemums.

The important queens have received their bouquets and pose for a final and memorable picture. The boys look as if they are quite pleased to be escorts to these lovely lassies.

Congratulations were in order for the cast after the over-whelming success of "The Night of January 16". This action-packed drama kept all in suspense until the verdit was rendered; "Not guilty!"

"An' then this heah drunk man come out stumblin'. I thought it looked funny!"

Nancy Lee and Mr. Whitfield cause quite a commotion as they enter the court room.

"I killed him. I can see it all now. He knew about the $10,000 because I told him."

"Oyez, Oyez, Oyez! the court of New York will now come to order."

Karen runs over to her attorney Stevens, as the court reports a "not guilty" verdict.

Mr. and Mrs Cameron Warner are being ushered to their seats by Carolyn Boling.

Highlights at S. J.

These boys are singing a number from the annual Stonewall Jackson Minstrel.

Mrs. Fred Hartman, mother of SJ's popular "Ike" Hartman, was crowned "Mrs. Stonewall Jackson". Upon being chosen, Mrs. Hartman's first exclamation was, "Oh! how wonderful." Mrs. Hartman has had several other children to graduate from Stonewall, among them "Whitey" and "Red", who were outstanding athletes. At the present, besides Ike, she has another son, Bob Jack, a sophomore here at Stonewall.

Other than raising her own children, Mrs. Hartman has assumed the obligation of raising several State Children.

We salute you, "Mom Hartman"; the honor given you was well deserved.

Peggy Hall takes Judy Phillips' hem line while Beverly Johnson and Sue Bess give advice.

Two familiar models around the school are Betty Jones and Norita Coffin. Little Becky Jones and Janice O'Conner proudly model their skirts that the older girls have made Lynda Humphries at the piano looks on.

The officers of the S. J. Y-Teen Club are being installed at the Y. W. C. A. The ceremony is a very impressive affair. Seated: K. Harrison, M. Glass, E. Titlow, P. Shumate, B. Moales, D. Warner, C. Boling, F. Young, F. Shamblin, N. Ochletree, S. Bowden, and M. MacDonald. Standing: J. Wilson, and C. Michael.

Another scene from our Junior Class Play shows Bob Preisman and Nancy Naylor discussing plans for their coming marriage.

Advertising

Through the years men have come to know that "It pays to advertise." I have noticed that Stonewall students appreciate those firms that advertise in the JACKSONIAN, for our faithful advertisers make this annual possible.

STONEWALL JACKSON CLUB

Billy Thomas of the STONEWALL JACKSON CLUB, is known in business circles as a lawyer, but to everyone on the West Side he is known as General Stonewall Jackson. He has been riding his horse, Colonel, at the games at Laidley Field for many years and is an ardent supporter of Stonewall.

THIS ANNUAL WAS LITHOGRAPHED BY

MATHEWS PRINTING & LITHOGRAPHING COMPANY

600-602 CAPITOL STREET

CHARLESTON, WEST VIRGINIA

Acknowledgment

Now as many of us must leave the vicinity of "Glenwood," the staff wish to take this opportunity to express deepest appreciation to all who have made this yearbook possible.

To Mathews Printing and Lithographing Company for their fine work in lithographing this annual; to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wallace of DeLuxe Studio for the excellent portraits of our faculty and seniors, as well as group pictures in organization and athletic sections; to Miss Mary E. Kennedy for her unlimited time and work in publishing this book; to Mr. E. Byron Meyer for his valuable advice to the art staff; to Miss Berenice Collins for her suggestion of "Glenwood" as the theme; and to The Charleston Daily Mail for athletic action shots—we extend heartiest thanks.

Certainly the advertisers and sponsors who have loyally supported this annual throughout the years cannot be forgotten, for without their vital assistance this yearbook could not exist.

To the staff for their boundless patience and cooperation in the production of the Glenwood Edition of the Jacksonian, we express the hope that it will be a reminder of happy times in the school that has grown up in the shadow of "Glenwood."
